

CARAVAN

The digital trade route for fresh produce.

Where supply finally finds its price.

WHAT IS CARAVAN

Growers, cooperatives, exporters and buyers have always negotiated bilaterally — the relationships are the market. CARAVAN doesn't change that. It gives those negotiations a proper digital protocol: structured, fast and recorded. And when the right counterparty isn't in your contacts yet, it helps you find them. The way financial markets solved the same problem, decades ago.

THE PROBLEM

Four structural frictions. Each one costing both sides of the trade.

01 Time is the enemy

Fresh produce doesn't wait. A shipment not placed today is worth less tomorrow. When negotiations drag across calls and messages, the clock runs against you. Speed of price formation isn't optional — it's the whole game.

02 Relationships are the market

In fresh produce, who you trade with matters as much as what you trade. Trust, reliability and quality track record aren't soft factors; they're how deals get done. CARAVAN keeps the relationship at the centre and puts the negotiation on a proper footing around it.

03 Every deal starts from scratch

When negotiations happen by phone and message, nothing is captured. No pricing history, no record of what was offered or declined. The next negotiation starts from zero — every time. That's a competitive disadvantage for both sides.

04 The right counterparty isn't always in your contacts

Your existing network is valuable. But sometimes you need volume you can't source from usual suppliers, or a buyer you haven't worked with before. CARAVAN connects you with other participants on the platform who may be exactly what this deal needs.

THE PROTOCOL

CARAVAN doesn't replace your counterparties — it replaces the chaos in between. Either side can initiate.

01 Send the request

Define product, volume, quality and delivery week. Select which counterparties receive it. Go out

02 Collect the quotes

Counterparties respond with binding price and volume within a set window. You see all responses at once, not one by one.

03 Execute and record

Accept the best offer — or a combination. The deal is confirmed, structured and logged. Both sides have a full record.

BUILT FOR BOTH SIDES OF THE TRADE

Supply meets demand — on equal terms.

FOR GROWERS, CO-OPS & EXPORTERS

Sell faster. Price better. Waste less.

You know most of your buyers. CARAVAN lets you reach all of them at once — and opens the door to counterparties you haven't worked with yet. You get a clearer picture of what your volume is actually worth before you commit to a price. No more accepting the first offer because the clock is running.

FOR BUYERS, RETAILERS & TRADERS

More supply. Better visibility. Less time chasing.

Sourcing fresh produce means calling the same contacts every week and hoping supply lines up. CARAVAN gives you a clearer view of what's available across your existing network and beyond, before you start making calls. Minutes instead of a morning on the phone.

FOUNDERS

CARAVAN is not an outsider's bet on agri-tech. It was conceived by people who've been inside both markets.

Cynthia Hadinoto

Co-founder — Technical & Product

Built pricing and trading infrastructure at Cargill, J.P. Morgan and KBC Asset Management. Applied machine learning, operations research and supply chain analytics across the Belgian food industry — at Colruyt, Solucious and Coöperatie Hoogstraten. CARAVAN sits exactly at the intersection of those two careers.

EARLY CONVERSATIONS WELCOME

We are in active conversation with cooperatives, growers, exporters and buyers across Belgium. If you trade fresh produce — on either side — we would like to understand how you work today, what creates friction, and what better infrastructure would be worth to your operation.

Why CARAVAN?

Before roads, before ports, before exchanges — there were caravans: groups of merchants coordinating routes and pooling trust to reach markets they could never have reached alone. One initiator. Multiple counterparties. A structured journey from price request to executed deal.
